Hasney Winner of Archdiocesan Essay Contest

Benjamin Hasney (4G) was selected as the winner of the Essay Contest for grades third through fifth for the Archdiocese of New Orleans. He received his award at Mass just before Christmas when it was presented to him by Ms. Kim Heller (at right), president of the Council of Catholic School Co-operative Clubs (CCSCC). At left is Ms. Kim Flair, principal.

I know we all love Christmas: the presents, the music, the lights and many more exciting things! There is one thing, though, that most people are forgetting about: Jesus! Think about it, without Jesus we would not be making Christmas lists, listening to Christmas music, or even getting Christmas presents. Also, Christmas is recognized as the birthday of Jesus Christ, so we are actually celebrating Jesus' birthday. That is the bigger occasion here. But why don't we celebrate it as much?

Well, kids today think that toys are the best thing in existence, which is crazy! We usually do not pay attention to what Jesus did for us. He was crucified so we could actually live and not be crucified like him. He performed miracles like turning water to wine, calming a storm, multiplying food to share with everyone and even resurrecting his friend.

I can understand that kids find it hard to celebrate Jesus when they have all these presents to play with, but we should still show admiration for Jesus during Christmastime. We should realize that Jesus is the most important person in our lives.
